Introducing Liz Swaine

Liz is the Executive Director of the Shreveport Downtown Development Authority, an agency tasked with pursuing and supporting private and public development in Downtown Shreveport.

Prior to joining the DDA and its sister organization, the Downtown Shreveport Development Corporation, in November of 2010; she worked in private business, government and the media. Liz spent 8 years in city government as executive assistant to Shreveport Mayor Keith Hightower. She started her career in television, and along the way, worked in the local oil and gas industry.

Liz doesn't stay still. She is an instrument-rated private pilot who has jumped out of airplanes, a former triathlete who now rides motorcycles with her husband Steve.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Happy 2012! It's here ready or not. There are several economic development projects in our area and we will have an update at our next membership meeting. Related items are Hwy 3132 extension and a report on Caddo schools that will provide an opportunity for our participation.

My appreciation to John Lorick and our past officers for their fine job. We will vote on our new slate of officers and board members at this meeting.

See you there.

John
